A REVELATION FOR THE TOURIST CLASS TRAVELER!

If you travel "TOURIST" then you'll be delighted with the Holland-America Line's popular thriftliners MAASDAM and RYNDAM. For here are two modern passenger vessels designed from keel to masthead almost exclusively for you and for all others who seek comfortable ocean transportation to and from Europe at an economical price.

The twin ships operate primarily between New York, Southampton, Le Havre and Rotterdam, with occasional calls at Cobh (Ireland) and Canadian ports. They also offer popular-priced cruises from New York to the West Indies and South America.

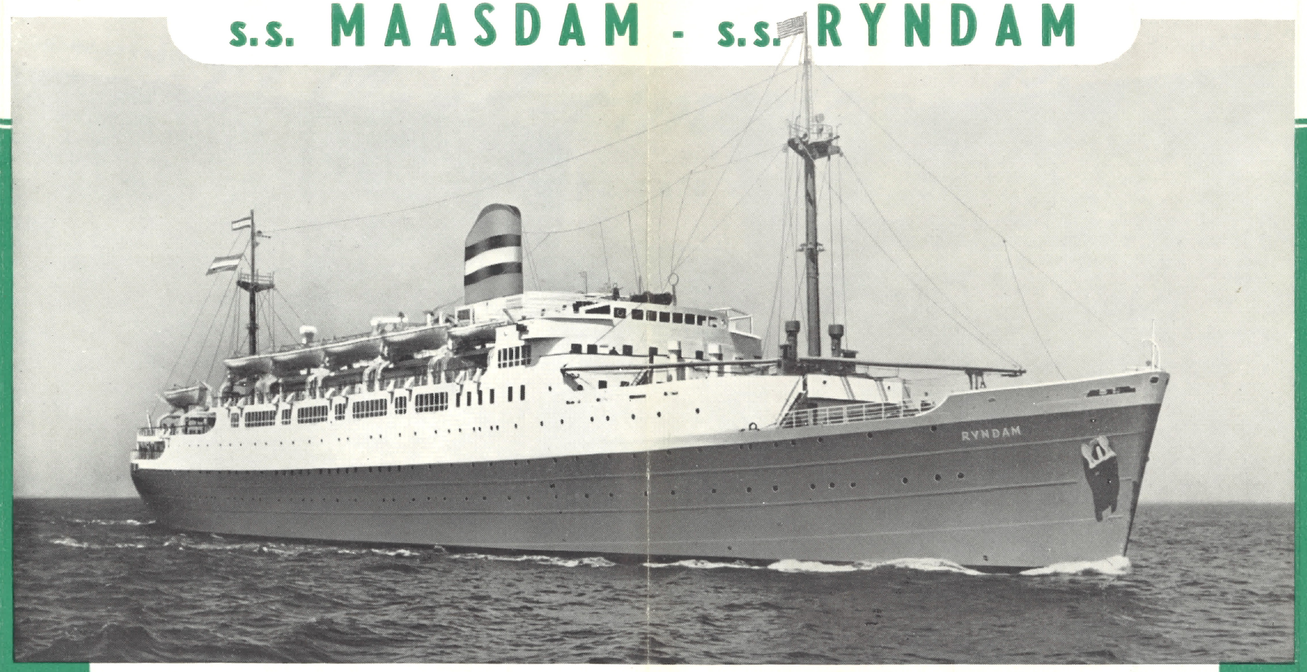

Imagine, if you can, two completely air-conditioned 15,000 gross ton passenger ships in which Tourist class accommodations have been given first consideration; where the largest public rooms and most of the choicest decks are ALL TOURIST; and where - as a Tourist passenger - you will enjoy virtual run-of-the-ship privileges with exclusive use of the outdoor swimming pool, gymnasium and other major recreational facilities.

The entire promenade deck, where the main public rooms are located, is set aside for the use of Tourist passengers. These public rooms are exquisitely designed and furnished by Holland's leading interior decorators. They include a large palm court located forward and running the full width of the ship, a library and writing room, a card room, and the main Tourist class lounge - a handsome room, modern in decor and readily convertible into a cinema. Completing the roster of promenade deck public rooms is a spacious smoking room with adjoining cocktail bar.

Above, on the boat deck, is a children's playroom, while on the main deck is a completely equipped beauty salon, a barber shop and a gift shop. The Tourist class dining room is located on A deck amidships and extends the full width of the ship. Spotless kitchens and pantries are conveniently located to insure quick service. The dining room walls are decorated with murals by well-known artists.

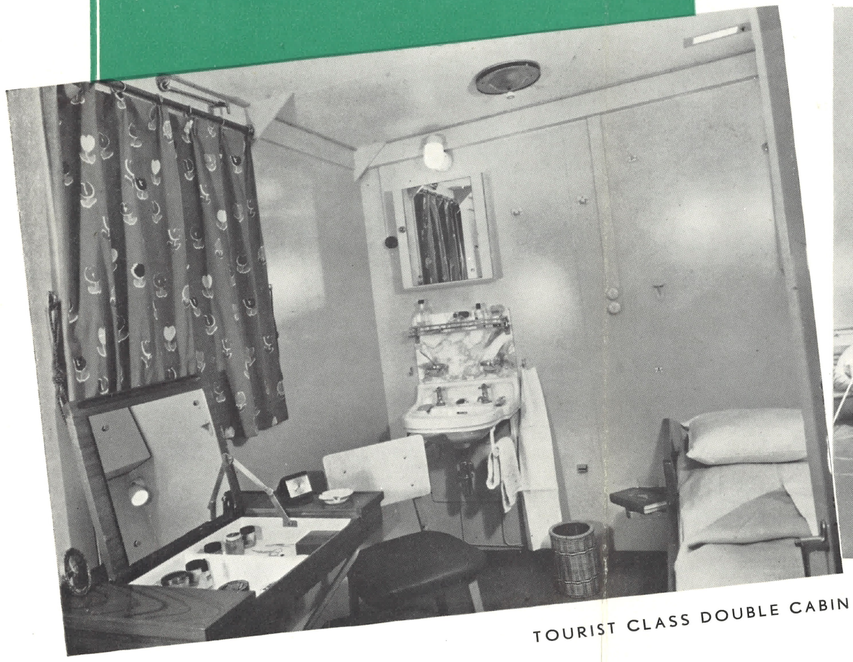

Elevator service is provided between all passenger decks.

Tourist class cabins on these transatlantic liners combine the compactness required for economy with every necessary adjunct for comfortable travel. Seventy-five per cent of them are for two persons, and all feature such conveniences as combination vanity-table desks, individual reading lights, wash basins with medicine cabinets and illuminated shaving mirrors, and adequate wardrobe space.

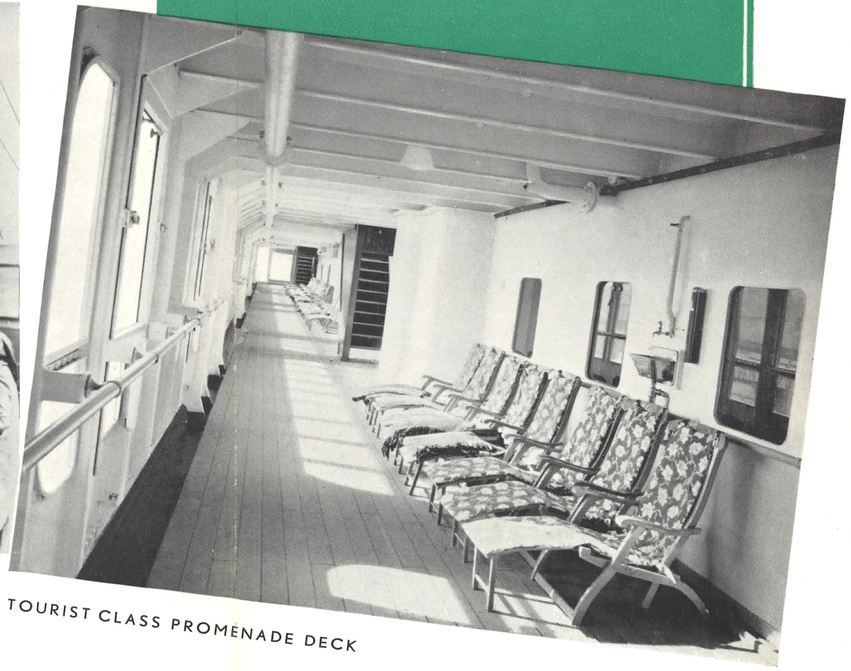

As a Tourist class traveler, you will enjoy an unparalleled amount of deck space. The entire glass-enclosed promenade will be at your disposal. And for open-air sports there are four major well-located decks, including a spacious sports area just aft of the funnel. Tourist class sports facilities on the Maasdam and Ryndam also include a tiled outdoor swimming pool and a gymnasium.
